Wrist Warmer

Simple wrist warmer from washed/felted sweater

The simplicity of this craft is wonderful. Go to a thrift store, or drag out an old wool sweater that you no longer wear. Wash and dry at least three times in your automatic washer and dryer (not hand washed or line dried). Put your arm in one sleeve and cut to the length you want. Repeat for the other arm. Snip a V shape into the wide end and machine or hand stitch around the V, connecting the two sides together and forming a thumb hole. Turn inside out and put it on! Embellish with buttons, bows or embroidery if you like.
